It was presented by H. P. Paris of Clinton, Mo., who said he would present it to the resolution committee of the conference Monday morning and demand that it be reported with other resolutions Monday night.

EARRINGS THAT DENOTE WIDOWHOOD.
That India is a land of curious customs is confirmed by the May Popular Science Monthly. A widow of Garo, a province of Eastern Bengal, instead of wearing black crepe, is shown as she dons ponderous earrings made of solid brass. Since her widowhood is perpetual, she is obliged to wear them the rest of her life. Each year another ring is added.

The constantly increasing weight of metal stretches the lobe of the ear, to which they are attached, in the extraordinary manner depicted. It is safe to say that no widow ever forgets the fact of her widowhood when wearing such a clumsy weight.

MUESSEL MINSTRELS TONIGHT.

Vincennes Will Have Place on Historical Film

Historic old Vincennes is to play an important part in the motion picture film depicting Indiana's history from the advent of LaSalle to the present time, which is being made by the Interstate Historical Pictures Corporation. A number of scenes will be devoted to the George Rogers Clarke expedition, showing the hardships through which the valiant soldiers were forced to go before their purpose was accomplished.

It was in Vincennes that the American flag was first raised in Indiana and it was in Vincennes that the flag was raised in Indiana for all time. With the British in possession of Vincennes after it had passed out of the hands of the French, Father Gibault and Capt. Helm, both members of Clark's expedition, raised the American flag for the first time in Indiana and administered the oath of allegiance to the residents. Gen. Hamilton, British commander, who had earned the title of the "hair buyer," because of his treatment of the settlers, retook the town when Helm surrendered it, after being promised a surrender with all the honors of war.

At the time Helm gave possession of the fort, he had but one other man with him to guard the fort. Seeing that if he used strategy, he would save both their lives, he asked for a parley. This was granted and he then told Hamilton he would give his "rarrison" orders to surrender if they were given all the honors of war. When this request was granted, Helm and the private marched to Hamilton and presented their arms.

Such incidents as this, while seemingly unimportant, are actual history and add value to the historical accuracy of the state film.

HOW TO DEVELOP INITIATIVE.
It is certainly essential that we should cultivate initiative in all of our people, but it is equally important that a man should understand that his initiative is valuable only when he knows what other people have already accomplished in that direction. The necessity for this is made evident every day by the great number of people who go to patent lawyers with devices which are obsolete and methods which have been superseded. If we would develop the initiative of a man properly, we must allow him to encounter unexpected obstacles which compel him to solve new problems. He soon discovers that it is wise to learn all that is known about a subject before he undertakes to make improvements. When he has learned to do the work as well as is already known to be possible, every encouragement should be given him to devise new and better methods. Initiative should be recognized to the greatest possible extent, and every opportunity should be taken to illustrate the value of knowledge in connection with it.—H. L. Gantt, in The Engineering Magazine for May.

It will be done in soft water—water as soft as any rain water and purer by far than any cistern water.

Why soft water?
Most any woman knows a number of whys; perhaps we can add a few:

The hardness in water is caused by the lime and magnesium which forms a coating on the fabric that hardens and turns yellow. This coating hardens and cracks all fabrics.

Your clothes will wear at least a fourth longer if laundered by Davies.
